NATIONAL VILLAGE AT KING'S WAY AND SIGNATURE HOME COLLECTION RELEASE MEANS ANOTHER SINGLE-DAY SELL OUT FOR REYNOLDS PLANTATION

Greensboro, Ga. (April 23, 2007) – The inaugural releases of National Village at King's Way and The Signature Home Collection marked another single day sell-out for Reynolds Plantation. On April 18, all 12 National Village at King's Way homes sold out, along with the four model homes that comprise The Signature Home Collection.

The combination of both releases totaled $12.5 million. "We're excited by the success of both this release and that of National Village at King's Way," said Lee Arberg, senior vice president of sales. "We're proud of our sales executives who have done a great job representing their customers."

Homeowners were attracted to National Village at King's Way by its scenic location and amenities. Nestled along the 4th hole of The Creek Club, these homes offer soothing views of a pond's tranquil waters. Buyers also chose the homes because of the ideal lifestyle they offer. "Because this release offered our property owners incredible homes, maintenance-free living and amenities like two-car garages, we anticipated a strong response," Arberg said. "But we were tremendously pleased to learn that all homes had sold out in just one day. It was an exciting day."

Luxurious design and amenities also drove the success of The Signature Home Collection at Reynolds Plantation. Built by Reynolds Construction Company, and furnished by master interior designer Kay Green, these homes feature luxurious, upscale design elements like granite counters, stainless steel appliances, stone fireplaces, exposed beams and hardwood floors.

"The Signature Home Collection is a perfect way for homeowners to create their ideal Reynolds lifestyle, thanks to the streamlined building and buying process made possible by this outstanding program," Arberg said. "This and The National Village at King's Way release underscore our commitment to offering a wide variety of homes in a "Best of the Best" community. We're proud that homeowners choose Reynolds Plantation again and again as an industry leader."
